PRESENTS AN EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW WITH THE PLANETARY
BLUES BAND
AND CUTS FROM THEIR NEW CD
ONCE UPON A TIME IN THE SOUTH LOOP

Given the economic hardships and the tumultuous political climate of the last few years, it was always amazing to me that blues music wasn't more popular than it was. If two wars and a recession didn't give anyone reason to sing the blues instead of getting lost in BIEBER fever - I don't know what I could say to you but I would encourage you to check out THE PLANETARY BLUES BAND. Comprised of brothers MARTIN, MICHAEL and BOBBY SCHAEFFER-MURRAY, the Chicago-based band took inspiration from the legendary blues sound of their hometown which included the likes of MAGIC SAM, BUDDY GUY, JUNIOR WELLS and SONNY SEALS. On their latest self-produced album ONCE UPON A TIME IN THE SOUTH LOOP the brothers SCHAEFFER-MURRAY and drummer NICK EVANS prove that they aren't merely paying tribute to Chicago's legendary sound but are proving themselves to be the heirs of this oh-so-proud American musical tradition without any of JOHN MEYER's douchebaggery.
